2008 NICS-NHFA Fellowship

The National Health and Medical Research Council, in partnership with the National Heart Foundation of Australia (NHFA), is offering a NICS Fellowship for a future leader in the uptake of evidence in the treatment and prevention of heart, stroke and blood vessel disease.

The NHMRC is Australia's peak body for supporting health and medical research. As part of the NHMRC, the National Institute of Clinical Studies (NICS) works to improve health care by getting health and medical research into practice. The Heart Foundation's mission is for Australians to have the best cardiovascular health in the world and to reduce suffering and death from heart, stroke and blood vessel disease in Australia.

The NICS-NHFA Fellowship provides the opportunity to undertake a project to implement evidence into practice, in the treatment and prevention of heart, stroke, or blood vessel disease. The successful candidate will have access to training, mentoring and support to become a leader in the uptake of evidence into practice.

Online applications close 5pm (AEST) Monday 9 July 2007
