DEADLINES & TIMELINES

➢ Proformas returned for data entry

You must set a deadline that allows you to have sufficient time to enter the proforma’s data to the publication system AND THEN circulate reports back to the staff for correction and enter any corrections.

➢ Collections to be delivered to Office for Research by Friday, 11 March 2011

However, we would appreciate the early delivery of as much material as possible. We need to give the library as much time as possible to scan the paperwork.

WHAT'S CHANGED FROM LAST YEAR

THESE THINGS HAVEN'T CHANGED BUT YOU'RE STILL BE REMINDED ANYWAY

- The login system has been changed to use the University's LDAP server to authenticate users. The system will ask you for your email username (usually firstname.familyname e.g. John.Fraser) and your LDAP password.

- The publication proforma requires the authors indicate if they are associates of a Research Centre or Institute. This information is needed to allow calculation of the funds to be distributed under the proposed research support fund scheme that will see a proportion of RSF funds distributed directly to researchers.

- The data entry system should automatically save the last author even if you forget and go straight to the 'add publication' button. However, if you make any changes in the author line you must click 'modify' button to save the modified information.

- For Book chapter and conference papers you can use details from previously entered publications from the same book or conference. I think the screen is pretty clear on how to do this. Hopefully it will save you a lot of time.

- A request of permission to include publication in the Victoria University's Institutional Repository (VUIR) is added. This information will be forwarded to the Library to process.

- RFCD code has been replaced by 4-digit FOR code. This information is mandatory. Coding information is available from our HERDC publication website http://research.vu.edu.au/herdc_pub.php.

- This year VU Library will be responsible for the process of evidence scanning. The scanned documentation will be stored in a closed Library repository. This will allow the Office for Research to view evidence electronically while conducting internal audit process.

Once again please attach the additional authors and research codes pages with the proformas to assist staff to complete the proforms.
INTRODUCTION

The Research Publications collection has a number of important roles. Firstly it is used to determine part of DIISR funding to the University through two main schemes, the Institutional Grants Scheme (IGS) and the Research Training Scheme (RTS). Secondly, the collection is also used as an indicator of how much research is done and where it is being done within VU. Finally, the publications collection is used to compile the University’s ‘Research Bibliography’, a list of all the research publications from VU. This is published on the Web and helps to promote VU to potential research collaborators, staff, students and the general community.

The production of this manual is to assist with the data entry process and to achieve style consistency. It is hoped that it will prevent confusion and enable the efficient and consistent entry of the University’s research data in such a way as to make the production of a variety of reports an easy and swift procedure.

Note: For the purposes of this manual the phrase ‘2011 research data collection’ refers to that work of collection and entry performed in 2011 relating to the institution’s research and publications from 2010.

YOUR ROLE

As a coordinator/data entry person, you have been appointed by your unit to enter all its 2010 publication data into the VU Publications collection system. This requires your being familiar with your unit, the VU Publications collection system and the rudiments of academic bibliographic convention.

COLLECTING THE HARD DATA

The Office for Research makes available a set of proformas to all academic staff and other researchers at the Victoria University. The forms are ordered alphabetically (A, B, . . . S). Each of the forms (A-S) relates to a specific category of publication. For example, form A obtains information about books, form C about journal articles, form O about conference presentations. It will be worth your while to familiarise yourself with each proforma prior to data entry. Proformas can also be downloaded from http://research.vu.edu.au/ordsite/herdc_pub.php.

Note that it is crucial that we report all publications for which DIISR provides funding (A1, B, C1 & E1). DIISR requires that publications in these categories are supported by suitable evidence and an internal audit of these publications will be done. Staff are encouraged to report other publication categories also, and these will appear in the Research Bibliography published on http://research.vu.edu.au/bibselect.php.

Please make sure all staff in your unit have access to the proformas. You will need to set a deadline for the return of the proformas (and accompanying evidence) to yourself. Make sure you allow time for data entry.
DATA ENTRY

Once you have the collected hard data you will be able to begin data entry. The proformas and their respective entry screens have been designed so that they resemble each other as closely as possible.

Perhaps the first thing to check upon receiving the completed proformas is whether all the necessary fields have been completed. In previous years of data collection, missing information has proved a problem at all stages. Do not enter the data from any proforma until you have obtained all the required information.

You may find it easier and more productive to divide the proformas into their respective publication categories before you start your data entry (rather than entering the proformas randomly). This way you can make more efficient use of this manual in concentrating on one publication category at a time and quickly learn the particular data entry methods and peculiarities of that publication category.

PAST PROBLEMS OF DATA ENTRY

The main problems which have occurred are:

- Incomplete or missing data:

  For example, page numbers, publishers, places published, ISBN numbers for books, title of articles, entries which only contained the first page number of an article or essay.

  Ultimately, all of this information is necessary. It is vital that all this information be gathered prior to entry.

- Incorrectly entered data:

  This covers a broad range of problems:

  - all authors of a publication should be entered and they should appear in the same order as in the publication;
  - spelling mistakes (this is a big problem for names, because computer spell checks will not identify these mistakes);
  - invalid abbreviations (e.g., Melb for Melbourne, U.K. for UK);
  - publications entered as one thing (e.g., review) when they are the other (e.g., article);
  - multiple publications entered as one publication (e.g., if the academic staff member has given a speech at six different places, then it should be entered as six different speeches);
  - the use of hyphens instead of colons to mark subtitles.
  - Dates should be entered as 1 May rather than 1/5, 01/05 or 01 May.
  - Publication titles need to be appropriately capitalised (e.g. "Chasing the Wounded Tiger").
The research bibliography is generated directly from the data you enter, so it is important to get it right. It is a good idea to look at your entries in the formatted bibliography, formatting errors will often stand out there. If in doubt ring the Office for Research (Neale ext 4601 or Cora ext 5354) for guidance.

SUMMARY OF PROCESS

1. Data entry coordinators distribute proformas and staff handbooks to staff members
2. Staff members complete the proformas and attach photocopied evidence of publication as applicable.
3. Proformas (with attached photocopied evidence) passed to nominated data entry coordinator.
4. Details of each proforma entered on the VU Publications Collection System.
5. When all proformas are entered on the system, each department will run a report and circulate to staff for checking.
6. Corrections made as necessary. (Note: Collections due to the Office for Research by (to be advised)
7. Send hardcopy of proformas (with attached photocopied evidence) to OFR and keep copy of them in department or research centre for 3 years.
8. Office for Research will run an internal audit to check that all publications submitted are eligible and have the required supporting evidence.
9. Authors will have an opportunity to supply any missing evidence after the internal audit.
10. Office for Research reports eligible publications to DIISR who then use this to calculate funding under the IGS, RTS and other schemes.
11. DIISR may audit Victoria University’s publications to check compliance with the specifications.
VU PUBLICATIONS COLLECTION SYSTEM Version 2

The publications collection system has been modified slightly since 2001, but still operates in much the same way. The principal changes are that all publication categories are accessed through a single link and the way authors are added has been streamlined. Please let Neale know if you have any problems or think something should be changed.

SECURITY

Since all the publications end up in one big database, we need to make sure that nobody else can change or delete the publications you have spent so much time entering. The system now uses email usernames and passwords and authenticates against the University's LDAP server. If you have any difficulties logging on please call Neale on 4601.

GETTING STARTED

The main menu can be found at http://research.vu.edu.au/vurespub/menu.php

Bookmark this webpage.

ENTERING A PUBLICATION

Select the appropriate publication category from the pulldown list and hit the ‘Add Publication’ button. A data entry screen will appear, and a publication ID number will be given at the top of the screen. Please write the publication id number on the proforma and there is now a space to do this in the top right hand corner.

Authors are entered one at a time in the marked fields. Press the “add author” button on the right to save each author (including the final author). Data can then be entered. When finished hit the ‘Save Publication’ button at the bottom of the screen. Alternatively hit the ‘Delete Publication’ button if you don’t wish to proceed. The program will tell you (hopefully) that the publication was entered successfully.

MANUAL

A more comprehensive Manual will be available from the menu page shortly. In the meantime if you have any questions please contact Cora on ext 5354 or email cora.ng@vu.edu.au

THE PROFORMAS

A (Book)

Authors
There is no limit on the number of authors who can be entered for a publication. Simply type in the family name, given name and any middle initial into the appropriate boxes. Select the school/centre to which the author belongs and select the author status i.e. are they staff, students or externals (Staff is set as the default so you don't need to do anything if the author is a staff member). If the proforma indicates 'yes' for the section about being associated with a Research Centre or Institute please select the appropriate Centre or Institute from the list. This is important, leaving this out could mean that the researcher misses out on their share of IGS funding. Then click on the "Add Author" button. This adds the author and displays a set of boxes to allow you to add another author if needed. When you have added all the authors simply move on to the next part of the form.

Remember to add all authors and add them in the same order as they appear on the publication.

Please make sure that the 'Total Authors' field matches the number of authors you have entered.

Submitting School/Centre
Select the appropriate School or Centre from the pulldown list. If you have publications from a unit not on the list please contact me and I will add it. Next enter the total number of authors and the number of authors from the submitting School or Centre.

Copyright Owner
Enter information as indicated in the form.

Choose Field of Research (FOR)
Select the appropriate entry from the pulldown list. The 4 digit number at the start of each entry is the code authors have been asked to supply.

If a word or phrase in the title needs to be inside inverted commas, then we use single inverted commas. The title’s major terms (i.e., nouns, verbs, adverbs and adjectives) need to be capitalised; prepositions, articles, conjunctions and other such words do not—except when they are the first

What to Do With the Forms When You Have Finished Data Entry

DIISR requirements on retention of publications data by institutions:

- Proformas and associated evidence must be stored for three years.

- It is suggested that the proformas (with attachments) are filed primarily by category then publication ID number.

- Deliver the collected proformas and attached documentations to the Office for Research (OfR) by Friday, 26 February, 2010.
